

The Revd Sarah Marshall
Vicar of St Martin's, Shenley

Sarah began as Vicar of St Martin's Shenley in August 2022 from her role as Curate in the Tring Team Parish, and prior to that from a long career in Human Resources for Mobile Telecoms companies.

During her previous career, she gained a Master's Degree in HR Management, and went on to study Theology and trained for priesthood.

Sarah is married to Chris and they have two sons, Samuel and Noah. She says her family are truly wonderful, so supportive, and she thanks God every day for them. Throughout this whole journey, moving schools (twice) and moving home (three times), they've not moaned once and regularly help out during services.

She receives great support, prayers and encouragement from the entire Aldenham, Radlett & Shenley parish, and is keeping herself pretty busy as she is also Assistant Dean of Women's Ministry in the Diocese of St Albans.

Sarah loves to spend time with her family, enjoys watercolour painting (when she finds the time!) and going to the gym; she and her family are Watford FC fans, and she loves to binge watch TV series on Netflix to unwind.

Aside from her obvious faith in God, people are at the heart of Sarah's ministry and she's keen to meet as many people as possible in the Aldenham, Radlett & Shenley communities - if you see her around, please do stop and say 'hello'!
